

Sinclair Broadcasting's forcing their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. I understood from my childhood and until this Administration that serving the public interest was your job as well. We do not pay taxes to have regulatory agencies act as rubber stamps for the sectors they are designed to oversee. Please ignore your fears of reprisal and stand up for your country.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
